This week I worked on layouts and scripts for moving the characters around. Last week I worked on menu set up. My main roadblock has been finding time to work on this project with personal life issues.